

RESULTS STILL MOST UNCERTAIN

Leaders of Both Parties Claim to Be Confident of Victory

CAMPAIGNING ENDED

Result of Voting in Middle Western States May Hinge on Suffrage of Women

New York, Nov. 6.—On the eve of the presidential election the general confidence in the result of the balloting tomorrow was expressed in the camps of the rival Republican and Democratic forces. Political workers had completed their tasks, their leaders had issued the usual forecasts and nothing remained but the work of winning out the vote and then to get news of the results that will bring joy or gloom to one side or the other.

Tonight the standard bearers of the leading parties remained quietly at their homes, President Wilson at shadow lawn and Charles E. Hughes at his hotel in New York. Surrounded by only immediate members of their families the candidates planned to receive the election returns at their homes. Tomorrow Mr. Wilson will go to Princeton to vote at the old fire engine house near the Princeton University campus. Mr. Hughes will vote in a laundry on 44th street, New York, near his hotel.

The weather man has promised generally fair and moderate temperature in most parts of the country for election day and political leaders said this presaged the coming out of a record breaking vote.

Officials to be elected follow: President and vice president. Thirty-three U. S. Senators. Four hundred and thirty-five members of the house of representatives. Thirty-five governors. Legislatures and other minor state offices.

A number of states will vote on certain amendments, chiefly of local interest. The states of Idaho, Michigan, Missouri, Montana, Nebraska, South Dakota, Maryland, Arkansas and California will, however, vote on the prohibition question, an issue that has loomed large on the political horizon for some years past. The territory of Alaska will also vote on this question. In Arizona an amendment for the abolition of capital punishment will be up for decision.

Woman's part in the presidential election is one of the outstanding features. In one quarter of the 48 states women have the vote this year. The 12 states are Wyoming, Colorado, Utah, Idaho, Washington, California, Arizona, Kansas, Oregon, Nevada, Montana and Illinois.

The women in the last named six states have the vote for president this year for the first time. The interest, political leaders take in this vote can be appreciated when it is seen that the states involved have 91 electoral votes, a little more than one-sixth of the electoral college's total vote.

One woman, Miss Jeanette Rankin, of Montana, is running for congress on the Republican ticket, and in California Mrs. Josephine Fernald of San Francisco is an aspirant for a seat in congress as a Democrat. If they are elected they will be the first women to win seats in the national house of representatives.

Another woman candidate for congress is Mrs. Frances Axtell, Democrat, in the second Washington.

Hughes Will Carry Vermont.

Mont Pelier, Vt., Nov. 6.—Estimates that Hughes would carry Vermont by 17,000 and that Horace F. Graham, Republican candidate for governor would win by 20,000 were made tonight by Stanley C. Wilson, chairman of the Republican state committee. Democratic leaders made no statement.

First U. S. Senator by Direct Vote.

Providence, R. I., Nov. 6.—The campaign in Rhode Island was particularly strenuous because for the first time the state has to elect a United States senator by direct vote. Senator Henry B. Lippitt, Republican, is opposed by Peter G. Gerry, Democrat, formerly a member of congress from the second district. The state also will elect three members of congress, governor and general state officers and an entirely new legislature.

Taft Prevented from Speaking.

New York, Nov. 6.—When former President William H. Taft attempted to make a political speech to a crowd of workmen at a local munitions factory today he was jeered and hooted to such an extent that he was obliged to abandon his speech, after talking a few minutes.

Speaking of the affair afterwards, Prof. Taft said: "I have no complaint to make. Such demonstrations, I am disposed to think, make votes for the Republican party."

He added that he did not care to strain his voice as he was to speak at a rally later.

New Jersey Campaign Ends.

Trenton, N. J., Nov. 6.—With both Democratic and Republican state chairmen expressing confidence in the outcome of the election tomorrow, the New Jersey state campaign ended tonight. Walter E. Edge, Republican candidate for governor, and H. Otto Wittgen, his Democratic opponent, did not make their final speeches until nearly midnight.

Republican State Chairman Bugbee adhered to his prediction that the national and state tickets would win by at least 45,000, while Chairman Grosscup declared Wittgen would be elected by at least 15,000 with President Wilson having a larger margin. New Jersey will also elect a United States senator and 12 congressmen.

Hard Campaign in New Hampshire.

Manchester, N. H., Nov. 6.—The campaign just closed was the hardest fought in this state in a decade and tonight both parties claimed victory here as assured. In this city the Republicans held a rally and an automobile parade.

Major Philip Faulkner, chairman of the Republican state committee, said that he was convinced that the state, normally Republican, would go for Hughes by a decisive margin. He also predicted a victory for the Republican candidate for governor and congress. Chairman George E. Farland of the Democratic state committee expressed great confidence of the election of the Democratic gubernatorial and congressional nominee.

Heavy Vote in California.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 6.—Indications were apparent today of a tremendous vote throughout California tomorrow. Issues which seem to outline themselves most sharply on the eve of the election were Hughes or Wilson, wet or dry, and Governor Hiram W. Johnson, Republican, or George H. Lutton, Democrat, for the United States senate. Prohibition leaders here predicted a landslide for the amendment restricting the sale of liquor to public drinking places and "saloon stores," and a winning vote of 500,000 for complete prohibition. Both Republicans and Democrats are claiming the state.

Democrats Have South to Themselves.

Atlanta, Ga., Nov. 6.—Governors will be selected in eight states tomorrow and United States senators in six. In Georgia the Republicans are offering no opposition to the Democratic candidate for governor and in Mississippi and Virginia the Democratic senators are unopposed.

Democratic leaders claim the southern states will roll up the usual majorities for Wilson and Marshall. The Republicans are hopeful of regaining a few more seats in congress. The states which will choose governors tomorrow are Arkansas, Florida, Georgia, North Carolina, Oklahoma, South Carolina, Tennessee and Texas. One United States senator will be elected in Arkansas, Florida, Mississippi, Tennessee, Texas and Kansas.

Both Sides Claim Illinois.

Chicago, Ill., Nov. 6.—Both Republican and Democratic campaign managers claimed Illinois by 150,000 on the eve of election tonight.

After receiving final reports from every county in the state, both Fred E. Sterling, Republican state chairman, and Arthur W. Charles, Democratic state chairman, announced they were more confident than ever of success.

The campaign, which was marked by apathy during the first weeks, closed with a wave of enthusiasm which swept the state from end to end in both the Republican and Democratic ranks.

It is estimated there are 1,800,000 voters in Illinois, of which about 600,000 are women, who will cast their first ballot for president at tomorrow's election. The women's and silent vote are puzzling the political managers. Both the Republican and Democratic leaders claim a majority of the woman vote, which in the event of a close vote may be the deciding factor. Both sides claim a majority of the silent vote.

Chicago, which has 808,119 voters registered, 504,421 men and 303,698 women, is being watched with apprehension by party leaders, who admit that the presidential candidate who carries the city by a large plurality is almost certain to sweep the state.

Republican managers claim Chicago by 55,000, while the Democratic leaders expect to carry the city by 75,000. The normal Republican plurality in Illinois is between 75,000 and 150,000.

Final Work by Pennsylvanians.

Philadelphia, Pa., Nov. 6.—Campaign managers in Pennsylvania devoted their energies today to the final preparation for getting out the vote tomorrow. The 6,628 voting places in the state will open at 7 a. m. and close at 7 p. m.

Estimates of the party leaders have not been changed, the Republicans declaring that Pennsylvania will go back to the presidential column for Hughes. The Democratic leaders say they expect a greatly increased vote for President Wilson over 1912. The Republican leaders say they will elect at least 31 of the 36 congressmen, a gain of 1.

Expect Large Vote in Massachusetts.

Boston, Mass., Nov. 6.—Political leaders agreed tonight that if the weather was fair tomorrow as predicted Massachusetts would poll the largest vote in its history. The total is expected to reach 525,000.

Governor Samuel McCall and Senator Henry Cabot Lodge, both of whom seek re-election, closed their campaign at a noon rally in Faneuil hall today. Frederick W. Mansfield and John F. Fitzgerald, Democratic candidates for governor and United States senator, respectively, wound up their efforts with a tour of the city wards tonight.

Republican managers tonight renewed their claims that Hughes would carry the state by 75,000 to 100,000 votes and that candidates on the state

CHARGE I. W. W.'S WITH MURDER

According to Announcement of Prosecuting Attorney Webb

THREE WOMEN ARE HELD

Judge of Superior Court Refuses to Release Them on Writs of Habeas Corpus

Seattle, Wash., Nov. 6.—Announcement by Prosecuting Attorney O. T. Webb of Snohomish county that charges of murder would be filed against all members of the Industrial Workers of the World who could be identified as having participated in the gun fight at Everett, Wash., when seven were killed and 50 wounded, marked the day's development of the case.

The refusal of Judge King Dykeman in the superior court here to release on writs of habeas corpus three women held in jail in connection with the riots and the statement of Herbert Mahler, secretary treasurer of the Industrial Workers of the World, that his organization would seek to prosecute members of the Everett Citizens' committee on murder charges, were other incidents of the shooting that focused attention. The women arrested were Mrs. Lorna Mehler, wife of Secretary Mehler; Mrs. Edith Frenette and Mrs. Joyce Peters. They are held in the city jail without formal charge pending further investigation.

Judge Dykeman, however, ordered that the Seattle police produce them in court Wednesday morning and meanwhile see that they are not removed from Seattle. Adjutant General Thompson of the Washington National Guard tonight dismissed from duty 500 National Guardsmen who had been held ready for emergency at the armories in Seattle, Everett and Snohomish. General Thompson said Everett authorities had full control of the situation and there was no further need of keeping the guardsmen under arms. Money from various I. W. W. locals is being received for the defense of the men under arrest, several hundred dollars having been telegraphed from Portland, Spokane, Los Angeles and other cities today.

Arrangements are being made by the local Industrial Workers to conduct the funeral of the five members of the organization who were killed at Everett.

Everett, Wash., Nov. 6.—Responsibility for the pitched battle between 230 members of the Industrial Workers of the World and a posse of 150 Everett citizens at the city dock yesterday, in which seven men lost their lives and 50 were wounded, was placed upon the men in the boat by the coroner's jury which investigated the deaths of the two Everett men killed in the riot.

The jury, after brief deliberations, returned a verdict that Charles O. Curless, a posse man, was instantly killed, and Deputy Sheriff Jefferson Baird, who died of his wounds early today, met death from "gunshot wounds inflicted by a riotous mob on the steamer Verona at the city dock." All but two of the witnesses called testified that the first shots were fired from the steamer Verona, on which the invading Industrial Workers came from Seattle.

ticket would be elected by slightly smaller pluralities.

Democratic state committeemen expressed confidence that Wilson would receive a plurality in the state of at least 20,000 and that the Democratic candidates for United States senator and the state ticket would be elected by pluralities ranging from 5,000 to 15,000. They said they also expected to make gains in the state congressional delegation.

Strenuous Campaign in Indiana.

Indianapolis, Ind., Nov. 6.—One of the most strenuous campaigns in the history of Indiana closed tonight and all over the state party leaders were preparing to get out the vote tomorrow. Leaders of the two major parties reiterated their opinion that their respective parties will carry Indiana for President, and both United States senators.

Interest was centered today in the election of congressmen. In 1912 the Democrats elected all 13 from Indiana but in 1914 the Republicans elected two.

Won't Even Concede Maryland.

Baltimore, Md., Nov. 6.—Democratic and Republican state chairmen tonight claimed Maryland for the respective heads of the national ticket. Republicans claimed that factional differences among the Democrats will contribute to the election to the United States senate of Joseph I. France over Congressman David J. Lewis, Democrat.

The prohibition question will be voted on in the remaining 11 "wet" units in the state, including the cities of Baltimore and Annapolis.

Villa Marching for New Supplies.

El Paso, Texas, Nov. 6.—Francisco Villa and his main column are marching toward Mesa de Sandias, 35 miles southwest of Parral, where a quantity of ammunition and arms and a large drove of horses are known to be hidden for the Villa forces according to an American refugee from Chihuahua City.

FRENCH TAKE NEW POSITIONS

Battle on Somme Fought Without Aid of Aerial Scouts.

With the French army on the Somme front, Nov. 5, via Chantilly, France.—From a staff correspondent of the Associated Press.—The battle today in the district between Sailly and St. Pierre wood was fought without the assistance of aeroplanes. The wind blowing 80 miles an hour prevented the planes from ascending and consequently the fire from a hundred German batteries as well as from the French and British was uncontrolled aerially. Every inch of the battle ground was a danger spot and the correspondent of the Associated Press and other correspondents were compelled to take shelter in a dug out.

When the French infantry attacked a series of trenches with trench mortars they found a strong garrison, which in one portion surrendered in a body with their officers, more than 500 running at a racing pace into the French lines and for 2½ miles to the rear accompanied by only a half dozen French guards.

St. Pierre Vaast wood is more than two kilometers square with many positions enfilading each other and proved a most difficult problem for the French. But French infantry finally rushed the place. The battle continued into the night.

PRESIDENT WILSON ENTIRELY SATISFIED

WILL RECEIVE RETURNS FROM ELECTION AT SHADOW LAWN

Long Branch, N. J., Nov. 6.—After going over with President Wilson optimistic messages received from all parts of the country Secretary Tamm tonight claimed the President would win tomorrow's election and would have 337 votes in the electoral college. He did not give a list of the states on which he based his prediction.

The President spent the day quietly at Shadow Lawn, going out for a short time for a game of golf and receiving a delegation for a few minutes in the afternoon. To those who saw him he expressed complete satisfaction over the prospects of tomorrow's voting.

The President will be up soon after daybreak to go to Princeton to vote, accompanied by Mrs. Wilson and expected to be back at Shadow Lawn in time for luncheon. In the afternoon he will play golf.

The President will receive the important returns by telephone from Secretary Tamm who will remain in the executive offices at Asbury Park. Only Mrs. Wilson and other members of his family will be with Mr. Wilson.

HUGHES APPEARS CONFIDENT

Republican Nominee Visits Republican Headquarters in Afternoon.

New York, Nov. 6.—Confident that he will be elected tomorrow, Charles E. Hughes went to a theatre tonight and retired early after a quiet day, most of which was spent resting. The Republican nominee will be up early tomorrow morning to cast his ballot at a polling place situated in a laundry near his hotel. Mr. Hughes had no comment to make tonight on the prospects of victory tomorrow. He takes the position that his campaign ended Saturday night and will have nothing more to say until the result is known.

Mr. Hughes will receive the returns at his hotel tomorrow night by telephone from the headquarters of the Republican National committee. With him will be members of his family. He has given instructions that he is to be supplied only with significant figures and not with fragmentary returns.

The nominee visited Republican headquarters this afternoon and shook hands with all the workers there. He was accompanied by Mrs. Hughes. Later they went for an automobile ride.

ONE ELECTOR SUICIDES

Division in Missouri Might Be Possible if Hughes Carries State.

St. Louis, Mo., Nov. 6.—Frank D. Ruher, Republican candidate for presidential elector from the Tenth Missouri district, committed suicide today, thereby leaving a vacancy on the Republican ballot. The Republican state committee met and nominated Henry Kersting to fill the vacancy. The nomination of Kersting was too late to get on the official ballot and Republican voters will be urged to write in the name.

The death of Ruher and the nomination of Kersting it is thought may result in a division of the Republican vote for electors from the Tenth district and even if Hughes carries the state it is possible that a Democrat will be elected in that district. In that event Missouri would cast 17 votes for Hughes and one for Wilson.

Enormous Trade Balance.

New York, Nov. 6.—The foreign trade of the United States for the calendar year 1916 will approximate the sum of $8,000,000,000, or about one-fifth of the international trade of the world, according to estimates made public here today by the foreign trade department of the National City bank. It will be 50 per cent greater than in 1915 and double that of 1911. Excess of exports over imports will approximate $3,000,000,000.

NEW YORK SEES END OF BATTLE

Whitman and Seabury Make Eleventh Hour Appeals

BOTH SEEM CONFIDENT

New York Considered Pivotal State in Matter of Electing the President

New York, Nov. 6.—With Governor Whitman and Samuel Seabury, candidates for governor, making final appeals to the voters of this city, the New York state campaign closed tonight, only a few hours before the polls opened. The head of each state ticket joined his campaign managers in professing serene confidence in the outcome of the balloting.

Because New York is considered a pivotal state in the presidential election, chief popular interest in tomorrow's voting centered in the contest between President Wilson and Charles E. Hughes. Voters of the state will be called upon, however, to elect a complete state ticket in addition to a governor and United States senator. There also will be chosen a new congressional delegation.

There will be one ballot for presidential electors, another for state and minor offices and a third for the two referendums submitted to the people, one on the question of a $10,000,000 bond issue for the acquisition of land for state park purposes, and the other on whether another constitutional convention shall be called.

Forecasts tonight of the result tomorrow depend upon whether the person who made the prediction was a Democrat or a Republican. Both sides agreed that the tide would be turned for the national ticket by those who voted as Progressives four years ago. The combined Taft and Roosevelt vote in 1912 was $45,550 as compared with $55,573 for Wilson. In Greater New York, which the Republicans concede will return a Democratic plurality this year, the vote for Taft and Roosevelt together exceeded by 3,093 that cast for Wilson.

While the Republicans contend that the greater portion of those who supported Roosevelt four years ago will swing to Hughes this year, the Democrats scoff at their claims. It was asserted at Democratic state headquarters that a careful canvass of every county in the state indicates that serious inroads will be made by President Wilson upon the normal Republican pluralities upstate and that the Democratic plurality in Greater New York will more than offset the Republican lead down to the Harlem river.

On the eve of tomorrow's election the chairman of both the Republican and Democratic committees claimed victory by at least 100,000.

Each side predicted tonight that it would make gains in the congressional delegations and in the state senate and assembly. The congressional representation now stands Republicans 23, Democrats 18, Socialist 1, Progressive 1.

In the last state senate there were 24 Republicans and 17 Democrats. In the assembly there were 37 Republicans, 51 Democrats, 1 Progressive and 1 Socialist.

VISITS THE DEUTSCHLAND

Count Von Bernstorff and Wife Pay Visit to Undersea Freighter.

New London, Conn., Nov. 6.—Count Von Bernstorff, the German ambassador, accompanied by his wife arrived here tonight from Washington to visit tomorrow the undersea freighter Deutschland, now being loaded for her homeward trip. The ambassador, it is understood, brought a suit case filled with official mail for the German Emperor. The work of loading the submarine went forward steadily today and indications continued to point to a start for Germany on Friday.

Arrangements have been completed for a complimentary banquet here Wednesday night to Captain Koenig and his crew.

Expect Big Vote in Wisconsin.

Milwaukee, Wis., Nov. 5.—Campaign managers in Wisconsin look for the heaviest vote in the history of the state to be cast at tomorrow's election. A very close contest between Wilson and Hughes is looked for, the state chairman for each candidate claiming the state. While Republican leaders were claiming that Robert M. La Follette for United States senator and E. L. Phillips for Governor, would win, the Democrats, who were counting upon Wilson to carry the state, declared the ticket would be carried with the President.

The Socialists expect to elect congressmen in the two Milwaukee districts.

Connecticut Result in Doubt.

New Haven, Conn., Nov. 6.—With their final appeals made to Connecticut voters both Republican and Democratic campaign managers tonight reiterated their claims of victory tomorrow by wide margins.

The attitude of 16,000 new voters and the trend of the Progressive vote are factors which are generally expected to figure largely in determining the outcome.

Republican leaders asserted tonight that 95 per cent of the 333,000 Progressives of four years ago have returned to the fold but the Democrats dispute this. Both parties claim a majority of the new voters.

TO SAFEGUARD THE ELECTION

Heaviest Vote in History of Michigan Expected Today.

Detroit, Michigan, Nov. 6.—Preparations were completed tonight to handle and safeguard the election in Michigan tomorrow which is expected to bring out the heaviest vote in the state's history. In Detroit, federal, state and local authorities, working separately, declared they were prepared to take drastic measures to prevent illegal voting.

The fight to make Michigan dry by passage of a constitutional amendment and the counter contest to let each community regulate its liquor traffic under an amendment providing for home rule were issues which overshadowed the presidential struggle. Dry and wet forces were each claiming victory.

Leaders reiterated previous claims that their candidates would carry Michigan.

OHIO POLITICIANS ARE WATCHING EACH OTHER

BOTH SIDES GUARDING AGAINST ANY ILLEGAL VOTING

Columbus, Ohio, Nov. 6.—At the close of one of the hottest presidential campaigns ever waged in Ohio, both Republican and Democratic campaign managers issued warlike statements declaring that they are going to watch each other for illegal voting tomorrow.

Democratic chairmen sent out instructions to county chairmen to be prepared to prosecute any attempt to corrupt the vote by use of money, suggesting that "a few arrests early in the day will have a very wholesome effect."

Charles S. Hatfield, Republican chairman, tonight issued a statement saying that the Republican state executive committee is just as much in sympathy with any legitimate move to suppress illegitimate voting tomorrow as the Democrats.

Hatfield charged Finley's suggestion "to have a few arrests made" constituted intimidation, and said the Democrats, so he was informed, "are determined to keep from voting every Republican voter whom they can."

No new predictions as to the outcome in Ohio were made tonight, the Democratic managers standing by their prediction of 100,000 plurality for Wilson and the Republican leaders claiming with equal confidence a Republican victory by from 60,000 to 100,000.

INVESTIGATE COAL SITUATION

Officials Will Find Out Whether or Not Illegal Combinations Exist.

New York, Nov. 6.—A census of the coal supply in this city to determine whether speculators are taking advantage of the public in certain sections was begun by the police today. Its purpose, it was said, was to learn whether a coal shortage exists in some sections and a surplus in others, and how the supply may be regulated to relieve the suffering in cold weather.

United States Attorney Marshall, District Attorney Swann and agents of the department of justice are investigating the situation to learn if the present famine prices are caused by natural conditions or by an illegal agreement of dealers.

Federal officials asserted tonight that the facts thus far gathered by the government do not indicate any interstate conspiracy. District Attorney Swann declared that what his department has learned "tends to show that the conspiracy to raise the price of coal, if there is such a conspiracy, is national in its extent."

PIERCE ARROW COMPANY CHANGES

Col. Charles Clifton Will Succeed George Birge as President.

Buffalo, Nov. 6.—Control of the Pierce Arrow Motor Car company of Buffalo will be taken over before Jan. 1 by J. & W. Seligman & Co., New York city bankers, and other banking interests of New York, it was announced today. The New York bankers will acquire a controlling interest in the company at a price not made public.

George Birge, now president of the Pierce Arrow company, will retire from the presidency and will be succeeded by Col. Charles Clifton, present treasurer of the company. In other respects the present organization will remain unchanged.

Promise Fair Day for Election Day.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 6.—The weather bureau's special election day forecast issued tonight says:

"The indications are that on Tuesday the weather will be generally fair in all parts of the country except that rains or snows are probable in the north Rocky Mountain regions, extreme northern Minnesota and upper Michigan. The weather will be warm in the southern states, the great central valleys and the region of the Great Lakes, and moderate temperatures will prevail throughout the eastern states."

Battle All Over in Maine.

Portland, Me., Nov. 6.—The battle for Maine political honors having been fought out at the state election in September, the voting tomorrow will be only for the Republican, Democratic, Socialist and Prohibition candidates for presidential electors.

RUMANIANS NOW ON OFFENSIVE

News From Dobrudja Indicate They Are Pressing Germans Hard

NO CHANGES IN WEST

London Claims British Submarine Scored Hit on German Dred-nought in North Sea

After a week or more of doubt concerning the operations in the Dobrudja region of Rumania where the forces of the Teutonic allies had been marching almost unimpeded northward across the province from the Black sea to the Danube comes the report that the Rumanians have taken the offensive, aided by the Russians and compelled the Teutonic allies to retreat.

On the Transylvanian front, however, the Rumanians in the Jiu valley who for some time had been holding the upper hand over the Austro-Germans, forcing them to give ground, have now been stopped, the Teutons having brought up re-enforcements.

All along the battle line in France between the Somme and Ancre rivers the Germans are tenaciously disputing attempts by the British and French to gain further ground. Berlin says that in Sunday's fighting over a front of 13 miles the French and British suffered heavy casualties and won nothing except a local gain in the St. Pierre Vaast wood. London admits that the British were compelled to give back to the Germans ground the British had won at the Butte de Warlencourt. In the St. Pierre Vaast wood however the French Monday made a further advance in the northern part of the wood and captured additional prisoners—600 of whom were taken in the fighting of Sunday and Monday.

Rome reports that the Austrians are bringing up heavy re-enforcements on the battle front north of Triest.

Bombardments and small infantry attacks continue to feature the fighting in the Macedonian theatre.

London reports that a British submarine in the North sea off the Danish coast has scored a hit on a German battle ship of the dreadnaught class. The amount of damage done to the battleship is not known.

Neither the British nor the French were able to retain in its entirety the ground won by them from the Germans on the Somme front during yesterday's fighting.

German troops last night attacked the new British positions near Butte de Warlencourt, south of the Albert-Bapaume road, and London today announces that the British were compelled to give up portions of them.

Paris states that while the Germans were held on the line between Sailly-Saillies and St. Pierre Vaast wood they were able to recapture some positions in the wood and in the village of Sailly just to the north.

After a long interval the resumption of active operations in Dobrudja is reported from Bucharest, which announces a Rumanian victory. Rumanian troops are declared to have taken the offensive north of Hirsowa, and driven Field Marshal Von Mackensen's men from several villages, which were set on fire as they were evacuated.

Regarding the fighting on the Rumanian frontier Berlin reports Teutonic gains southwest of Pralœa, where a light was captured from the Rumanians, and southeast of Rothermund Pass. The Rumanians were repulsed in attacks in the Saurul Pass region and lost more than 150 men in prisoners in the day's fighting.

The Rumanian advance in the Jiu valley, where pursuit of the Austro-German forces has been going on for several days, has been checked, Gen. von Falkenhayn having reinforced his columns in this sector, according to the Bucharest announcement today.

Violent engagements are reported at various points along the Transylvanian front with no decisive result recorded.

COMPANY G'S FINE RECORD

RANGE FIGURES FOR 1916 BETTER THAN EVER BEFORE.

Twenty-Three Qualify as Experts, Thirty-Nine as Sharpshooters and Thirty-Six as Marksmen—Company Hopes to Win High Honors.

The table printed below gives the figures made at all distances during the past year by members of Company G in out-door range practice. These figures are very remarkable, inasmuch as 23 members qualified as expert riders, which is the highest marking given; 39 as sharpshooters and 36 as marksmen, which is a total of 98 men. For the past two years the company has held the trophy for the third best company in the state. This year it hopes to do much better, and possibly to win first place. Announcement, however, will not in some time be made, as the figures from all the companies are not yet in. The following is the complete table, which will be of interest as matter of record to all who are interested in the good work of Company G, and is a matter of just pride to the men of the company and to its efficient officers:

The National Guard of the state is now federalized and is paid for drilling. The year is divided into two parts, the first from January to July, and the other the remaining months of the year. In each period there are 11 drills, and the men who are in attendance get approximately one-fourth the pay of a regular army man, which will be about $1.00 per night for drilling. Army range shooting began November 1. Each man shoots once a month and is paid for this as drills. The army range is now open every Friday night, and each man shoots at least once during the month. Drills are held on Mondays and Wednesdays

"OLD IRONSIDES" WILL BE REPAIRED
The frigate Constitution, relic of the early days of the United States, is going into drydock for the first time in nearly three-score years, according to plans announced at the Charlestown navy yard, where the old sea-fighter is docked.
In the last naval bill an appropriation was made for repairing the Constitution, and as a new bottom is necessary she will have to go into drydock. The operation is regarded as a delicate one, for it is feared that the frigate's hull is not in condition to stand any great strain.
The last time the Constitution was in drydock was in 1858.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

New York Markets.
New York, Nov. 6. — Wall street's confidence in or indifference to the outcome of the presidential election was unmistakably demonstrated, according to the individual point of view by today's operations. In the judgment of observers, the market's remarkable strength—its undecurrent of confidence—were based on fundamental and intrinsic conditions far removed from immediate political considerations.

United States Steel was the central feature to a greater extent than recently, not only because of its activity, in which it far outdistanced all other favorites, but also by reason of its rise of 3½ points to 123½, exactly a point above its previous maximum. Utah Copper and Central Copper rivaled Steel as to new levels.

Urgent demand was indicated at various times for other industrial stocks. United States bonds unchanged.

Origin of Thanksgiving.
In colonial days it was customary to appoint days of fasting or feasting, of prayer or thanksgiving, when public events seemed to warrant this recognition. In 1789 Washington ordered a day of thanksgiving for the adoption of the Federal constitution. Subsequently various days in November were recommended by presidents and governors until, in 1863, the regular observance of a national Thanksgiving day was instituted through a proclamation of President Lincoln. The president's proclamation does not make it a national holiday. It applies legally only to the District of Columbia and the territories. It is the governors' proclamations that affect the states. The day is observed in all states, but in some it is not a statutory holiday. Thursday was originally selected by the Puritans probably because, being near the middle of the week, it gave opportunity for the scattered members of the family to come together and to return without deserting the Sabbath by travel. November was selected as the month when the fall harvests were all gathered. Other countries have Thanksgiving days for special occasions, such as success in battle or the deliverance of the people from a national calamity, but the fixed annual Thanksgiving day is a custom belonging to America alone.

Alcohol From Wood.
Most people when informed of the fact that alcohol is manufactured from sawdust immediately assume that the product is the so-called "wood alcohol" of commerce. This is not the case, and a statement of the two processes of manufacture makes the distinction clear. True wood or methyl alcohol is produced by the destructive distillation of wood. Cordwood is placed in a retort which is heated until the gases and liquids are driven off and only charcoal remains. The liquid distillate is then divided into components, one of which is wood alcohol. In the production of ethyl alcohol from sawdust the process at certain stages is very similar to that used with grain, molasses, potatoes, etc., and the product is exactly the same. The sawdust is cooked with dilute acid to produce sugars from the wood substance. These sugars are leached out and the liquor is fermented and distilled, producing grain or ethyl alcohol.—American Lumberman.

COMMUNITY REVIVAL SERVICES.

Preliminary Meetings Forecast Great Religious Awakening at Stamford.

Stamford, Nov. 6.—The community revival services now under full swing at Stamford, appear to be the beginning of the greatest awakening this town has ever had. The preliminary service was held last Friday night, when a community reception was held in the large dining room of Churchill hall, owned by Dr. Churchill. The Rev. Edmund E. Hart of the Methodist church presided and introduced Dr. Churchill, who in a most gracious speech presented the hall to the members of the Methodist, Baptist and Presbyterian churches, united in revival effort, and to the community at large.

The present of the hall was received by three representatives of the churches, Dr. O. W. Simonsen for the Baptists, Dr. Gallup for the Presbyterians, and Attorney William Halsey for Methodists. Prof. Plumb, principal of the schools, spoke for the community at large. The musical director, Prof. M. H. Litchfield of London and New York, was presented by Rev. T. Pandey John of the Baptist church and made a fitting speech, and sang a solo that won the large audience. The evangelist was also introduced, and made some preliminary remarks. The large chorus was drilled by Mrs. Levin Howland, and sang beautifully.

Sunday three services were held, morning, afternoon and night. Between 350 and 400 people gathered in the evening despite the storm and a raining time was had. Everything is harmonious and the several churches are co-operating and working hard and all bids fair for a gracious outpouring of the Holy Spirit.

A large children's chorus is being drilled by Prof. Litchfield, and will sing at the afternoon meetings.

KEEP THE DISTRICT ON MAP.

A final word this morning to Oneontans in particular may not be amiss. There is one candidate in whose election citizens of our city are peculiarly interested—one who for ten years has represented his district in the congress of the United States, and who even by his political opponents is admitted to have done his work faithfully and well. He has been the steadfast friend of the veteran and of his widow and dependent children; he has always been watchful for the interests of the hop grower, the dairyman and the agriculturist; he has been no less interested in whatever might be of benefit to his constituents of whatever occupation; and that he has looked out for the welfare of his native city, which also is his home, the federal building on Main street stands as enduring evidence. Moreover, he has always been courteous and painstaking in behalf of his constituents, and whatever favor has been asked by them he has labored diligently to secure.

These things are of local concern. What is of more widespread interest is the fact that his ability and the commanding nature of his talents have been fully appreciated by his colleagues at Washington, as witness the nature of the committee places—post office and foreign relations, ending with ways and means, which he has held. As for the country at large, there was probably no primary canvass which attracted so much attention, and about which there was so much real concern as that of Mr. Fairchild.

In a political sense Mr. Fairchild has put the Thirty-fourth, congress district of the state of New York upon the map. As a citizen of Oneonta or any county in the district you can aid in keeping it there by casting your vote for him today.

CLEARING OUT THE GYPSY MOTH

The gypsy moth, which has wrought such havoc and cost such large sums of money to fight in Massachusetts, has apparently been pretty well cleared out of the state of New York, and this is true also of Ohio and New Jersey, where stray colonies in some fashion managed a few years ago to find their way. In Ohio the infestation was at Bratenahl, a suburb of Cleveland. There such effectual work has been done that not a single egg cluster has been found. In New Jersey the moth had made some headway at Rutherford, but there no specimens were found the present season; and in New York, where the infestation was in the parks at Rochester and in the vicinity of North Castle. No infestation was found in Rochester and in North Castle only eight egg clusters, and these outside the area which was sprayed a year ago.

While the above reports are very satisfactory, there should be no relaxation of watchfulness on the part of the authorities, and all nursery stock brought from infested sections should be carefully inspected. Eight egg masses in the state of New York is not a great many; but a single egg mass, lost by a professor in Boston a dozen or more years ago, after he had brought it over from Europe, has cost the state of Massachusetts millions of dollars, and the other states and the general government perhaps as much more.

PROBATION OF CRIMINALS.

The past few years have seen great increase of interest in this state relative to the probation of criminals, and in practically every county, among them Otsego, the plan has been put into operation. In this county great interest has from the first been taken by County Judge Kellogg, and probation officers have been appointed who have looked carefully after the cases entrusted to their care. As a result, many persons who otherwise would have been sent to jails or penitentiaries and have had placed upon them the inextinguishable stigma of "prison bird," have been enabled to begin life over again under favorable conditions, albeit always under the unobtrusive care of the probation officer; and in a majority of instances the prisoners under probation have justified the faith felt in them.

In view of these facts great interest will be felt in the annual State Probation Officers' conference, which will be held in Poughkeepsie next week. Speakers of prominence, including President Bailey of the State Education department, Judge Clearwater of Kingston, and others who have been deeply interested in the work will be present. It is probable that practically every county in the state will be represented and that from the deliberations a much better understanding of the varying problems of the probation officer will be arrived at.

Why Watches Lose Time.

The reason for variations in the time keeping qualities of a well regulated watch have been the subject of investigation by scientists recently. The popular theories that annual magnetism and bodily temperature are causes are denied by investigators. Rather, different rhythms of movement as well as the angle at which a watch hangs are given as real causes for irregularities.

ONEONTA PUBLIC LIBRARY

Brief Explanation of Classification of Books Will Interest Its Many Patrons.

All users of the public library will be materially helped by getting in mind a few of the main facts of the system for classifying and shelving books used in this library in common with the majority of public libraries. All books are divided into ten great classes according to the division of knowledge and literature to which they belong: The 100's include philosophy, psychology, ethics; the 200's, religion, church history; the 300's, the political and social sciences; the 400's, philology—the elementary and technical study of languages; the 500's, science; the 600's, the useful arts and crafts; the 700's, the fine arts; the 800's, literature; the 900's, history, geography and travel.

Books of the same class are grouped together on the shelves, the separate books being arranged alphabetically according to the author's last name. As: Histories of the United States by Hart, Wilson, Fiske, Parkman, would all come in 973 and would be arranged—Fiske, Hart, Parkman, Wilson. Each book has its own number to distinguish it from every other book in the collection—first the number to tell its class, as 973, (U. S. Hist.) 355.45 (National defense), 324 (Woman suffrage), etc., and below that its author indication, which consists of the author's initial and a number, which gives the book its exact position in the collection. In this library until the card catalog is in usable form for the public, type-written cards have been placed conveniently on the walls and shelves giving the important or much used subjects of classification and their corresponding numbers.

The reference room at the front of the building contains such general reference books as encyclopedias, dictionaries, atlases, etc. The history collection is also here. The loan room contains the two collections of travel and biography. The fiction is also arranged alphabetically by authors, the biography by the person written about, thus grouping all lives of the one individual. At the right of the loan room is the room containing the classified books from 100-800. Beyond the fiction room is the children's room arranged on the same plan as the adult collection.

The policy of the library is to loan books freely. Even the reference books and the magazines, not current, may be taken out on special cards and for a limited time. The only exception to this is in the case of a book in which readings are required for club or class work. The library possesses very few duplicates, and to hold such a book on reserve and require it to be read at the library accommodates several readers, while to loan it would accommodate one and disappoint perhaps a dozen others. Even such books are loaned from closing of library one evening to a specified hour the following day, or from Saturday night for over Sunday.

For the better accommodation of students an extra room has been equipped for use as a quiet study room, at the head of the stairs.

FORESTRY FOR FARMERS

Special Course on Subject Begins Next Week at Cornell University.

A special course on the farm woodlot will be given at the New York state college of agriculture at Cornell university beginning November 8, 1916, and ending February 17, 1917. Like all the other courses offered during the winter this course will be free to residents of New York state, and may be taken in connection with one or more of the regular courses offered by the college at this time.

The object of the course, it is stated, is to demonstrate that the farm woodlot may be made a permanent and profitable source of income to the farmer. In addition to the one lecture a week, three Saturday afternoons will be given to trips to neighboring woodlots, or to such places as are of interest to owners of woodlots.

The college announces that this course will furnish, in as condensed a form as possible, the necessary information for the proper care and management of the farm woodlot; especial emphasis being placed upon the identification of our native trees, together with a discussion of their different values as producers of timber and woodlot products. Considerable time will be spent upon the various ways of estimating timber in the woodlot, attention paid to the different types of log rules; and also to methods of seeding and planting the farm woodlot.

Information concerning this course, together with application blanks for admission, to the winter courses, will be mailed upon request by the secretary of the college of agriculture, Ithaca, N. Y.

Tri-State Milk Commission.

An unusual example of State co-operation appears in the organization of a Tri-State Commission, representing Pennsylvania, Maryland, and Delaware, for the study of the milk situation, hearings before which begin this week. The dairymen of these states and of New Jersey are represented in the Interstate Milk Producers' association, and it is obviously for consumers' interests that the combination be dealt with by the three at once. Governor Fielder thought that in New Jersey, where proximity to New York complicates the situation, the matter could best be handled independently. The commission is working through two main sub-committees, one on production, the other on distribution; while grading and the utilization of surplus production will also be gone into. It can command the attendance of dairymen from different sections of each state, and examine methods and cost of distribution in a much more comprehensive way than otherwise. Already it is conducting a huge volume of correspondence.—[New York Evening Post.

New Teachers Elected.

At a meeting of the local board of the Oneonta State Normal school, held yesterday afternoon at the Wilber National bank building, the following teachers, who have already commenced work, were elected:

Miss Mabel P. Finckle, who graduated from the school a few years since and who since has pursued studies at Columbia and of late has been teaching at Nutley, N. J., was elected as teacher and critic in the sixth grade; to succeed Miss Katherine Tobey, who was advanced to other work.

Mrs. Ruth Ford Sherman was elected as temporary teacher in grade work pending the selection of a permanent teacher in the position.

Bids were also opened for repainting the rear of the Normal building, but owing to the lateness of the season it is improbable that the work will be done until early the coming summer.

Can you read this type clearly and with the same pair of glasses see distant objects?

With KRYPTOK Glasses you can see far objects just as distinctly as you read the type on the printed page. They give you near and far vision in one solid lens.

KRYPTOKS (pronounced 'Krip-tok') enable you to adjust your vision from near to far—distance. They end the bother of removing your reading glasses or fusing with two pairs.

KRYPTOKS cannot possibly be distinguished from single vision glasses because their smooth clear surfaces are absolutely free from the distracting lines, seams or shoulders of old-fashioned bifocals.

Shirley L. Huntington, Esq.

Democratic Candidate for Surrogate

Shirley L. Huntington, esq., the Democratic candidate for surrogate, is one of the leading lawyers of the county. He was born in the town of Edmeston in 1859 and received his legal training in the office of the late H. M. Aylesworth of Leonardsville, the leading lawyer in Central New York.

In 1889 Mr. Huntington came to Oneonta and formed a partnership with the late R. M. Townsend, which continued until 1892. From 1892 until 1896 he was in partnership with Hon. W. H. Johnson, and since that time he has practiced alone.

For many years Mr. Huntington has had a very extensive practice in surrogate's court and has handled many large matters. He is a man of the highest integrity, a thorough student and is of a marked judicial temperament. He enjoys the respect of his associates at the bar, many of whom show their confidence in his knowledge and judgment by consulting him upon important legal matters.

The handling of the estates of the dead is a most serious matter because of the gravity of each case and the amount of money involved each year, and for this reason the office of surrogate is considered the most important in the county. It is highly important that the incumbent should be a man of wide experience, sound judgment and deep learning, and it is generally conceded that no lawyer in the county is better fitted than Mr. Huntington, either by nature or training, to perform the very responsible duties of the office.

TRACK WALKER KILLED

John Miller of Otego Steps in Front of Fast Moving Freight Train.

John Miller of Otego, a track walker in the employ of the D. & H. company, was instantly killed at 12:20 o'clock p. m. yesterday, when he stepped directly in front of a fast moving extra freight train south of Otego station. He was walking on the northbound track when a train came up behind him, and with his head down he stepped over to the southbound track, directly in front of the extra way freight in charge of Engineer Madigan and Conductor J. W. Every. Members of the train crew rushed to Miller's assistance, but he was badly mangled, and had been apparently instantly killed. The remains were taken to Otego and conveyed to Bailey's undertaking rooms, where they were viewed by Coroner N. W. German of Oneonta, who issued a burial permit.

Miller, who was 17 years of age, was unmarried and made his home at the Breille house in Otego. He is survived by one brother, William Miller, a blacksmith residing in Delhi.

CLOSING REPUBLICAN RALLY.

Address by James L. Feeney Draws Crowded House at Municipal Hall.

The announcement made yesterday morning that James L. Feeney of Washington, who addressed the meeting last Thursday would speak again at the Municipal hall that evening was sufficient to crowd the hall to the doors and from beginning to end of the address there were many standing in the hallways and listening as well as might be to his remarks. The speaker was introduced by Hon. A. L. Kellogg, who spoke briefly of the issues of the campaign before presenting Mr. Feeney to the audience.

In the introduction to his remarks Mr. Feeney referred briefly to the circular largely circulated in the city yesterday, in which acts unworthy a labor leader or to any citizen were attributed to one Frank Feeney; and after explaining that Frank Feeney was a Pennsylvanian and former president of the Structural Iron Workers brotherhood of the state; while he was a bookbinder by occupation and president of that body, read the letter of retraction issued later in the day and signed by the gentlemen who secured its publication under a misapprehension of the facts as above stated.

Continuing, Mr. Feeney followed largely the lines of his address on Tuesday, urging laboring men, whether members of unions or not, to vote for themselves and their interests and not for any party, told why in his opinion the labor vote this year should be cast for Mr. Hughes as a representative of protection and not of free trade.

STRAND THEATRE TODAY.

Jane Grey in "The Test," with a Strong Supporting Cast.

Suppose a sweet little woman—someone near and dear to you—should be forced to sacrifice herself to save her worthless husband from the prosecution he deserves. Suppose the rich man should laugh at the promise he made to get her, and send the other, to prison. Suppose she should be offered one position, then another, only to find what they really mean. That's what wonderful Jane Grey does in "The Test."

The star, Jane Grey, famous both on stage and screen as one of America's finest actresses. The supporting cast includes Lumsden Hare, who has been in many Charles Frohman productions; Claude Flemming, remembered in many parts on Broadway, including that of Massakoff in "The Chocolate Soldier;" Inez Duce, star of "The Mischief Lady," and Carl Harbaugh, an actor of unusual ability.

Speaking of it, the Moving Picture World says: "The production will find favor with any audience." Blossom Time in Japan, a very pretty scenic, will also be shown. The latest election returns will be read from the stage.

THE PLACES TO VOTE.

Where the Electors of Oneonta City May Cast Their Ballots.

To "vote early and often" was an ancient, ironic injunction in days wherein perhaps the election procedure was a little less careful than it is at present. But at least half of this saying holds good at present, since manifestly it is important to vote as early as one can, thus getting out of the way of the voter who necessarily is later and at the same time making sure that nothing interferes with casting your own ballot. Elsewhere in this issue there is printed a complete list of polling places and also of the boundaries of the districts; but for the purpose of observation we reprint the following list as a kind of vest pocket guide to polling places in Oneonta:

First Ward.

First district—Municipal building, Main street.
Second District—Stone's barn, 393 Main street.

Second Ward.

First District—Walsh's barn, 44 Maple street.
Second District—Ford's barn, 363 Main street.

Third Ward.

Coy's garage, 14 Dietz street.

Fourth Ward.

Coy's paint shop, 12 Dietz street.

Fifth Ward.

Powell's barn, 39 Chestnut street.

Sixth Ward.

Hull's barn, 19 London avenue.

Do not forget that the polls open at 6 o'clock in the morning and close at 5 in the afternoon.

C. E. WESTERVELT CHOSEN.

Selected As New Secretary of the Oneonta Chamber of Commerce.

Charles E. Westervelt was yesterday elected by the directors of the Oneonta Chamber of Commerce as its executive secretary to succeed Paul S. Collier, who recently resigned. Mr. Westervelt was the unanimous choice of the committee appointed to recommend one of the candidates and their selection met with the approval of all the directors present.

Mr. Westervelt is the editor of the Oneonta Daily News and is a man of about 45 years. He has been prominent in the work of the Oneonta chamber for years and was active in the reorganization of that body and in making it a very effective organization for the upbuilding of that city. He is highly recommended by all familiar with his qualifications. Personally he is one of the most agreeable gentlemen one could meet, of high class in every particular, and the directors could not have made a more fortunate selection.

He has been active in all movements for the civic betterment of his home city and is recognized there as one of the enterprising, progressive men of the community. It is not known for a certainty that he will accept at the salary the chamber is able to offer, but it is expected that reply will be received in a few days. In the meantime it will be hoped that he will be able to so adjust his interests in that city that he can come to Oneonta.

"Katinka," Thursday Evening.

With a big line and a continuous ringing of the telephone the seat sale for "Katinka," opened at the theatre box office this morning; which is the surest indication that by tomorrow night, seats will be at a premium. There have been musical plays with scenes laid in Turkey, Russia and musical plays more numerous than the other two put together, with scenes laid in Vienna, but it has been reserved for Arthur Hammerstein to combine these three widely separate and distinct localities into a single evening's entertainment. Otto Hauerbach, who wrote the play, has led his characters from a wedding feast in Yalta, Russia, to the streets of Stamboul, Turkey, and thence to the brilliant cafe in Vienna. The scenery, possibly the most beautiful that has ever been seen in this city, is carried in two large baggage cars, has been carefully selected to catch and preserve throughout each act the atmosphere and localities where the scene is laid. Prices $2.00, $1.50, $1.00, 75c, 50c. Secure your seats now.

BORDER TROOPS OF NEW YORK PRINT REAL LIVE NEWSPAPER

Old Saw "Asleep at Switch"
Rejuvenated by Michigan
Troops—Many Poets
in Camp.

Doctored Clinical Thermometer Gives Field Sergeant
a Scare—Gossipy Stories From the Front.

A REAL "live" newspaper is the Rio Grande Rattler, printed and published entirely by New York state troops encamped on the border. Its motto is, "It is not the purpose of the Rattler to stir, but to get out a rattling good newspaper," and that it has succeeded seems evident from the fact that it already has a circulation of 15,000.

One of the leading articles on the first page deals with the "remarkable health record" of the troops and should greatly reassure friends at home who have been hearing disturbing stories of life on the border.

An interview with Major General O'Ryan on the purpose of the trip to the border, an account of the arrival of the adjutant general in camp, a message from Governor Whitman and an article dealing with the program for practice marches of the troops make up the first page.

The managing editor is Major F. W. Ward, assistant chief of staff, and the rest of the publication staff includes Major Fred M. Waterbury, division ordnance officer; Captain Wade H. Hayes, Seventh Infantry; Lieutenant Samuel J. Fisher, Twelfth Infantry; Captain Arthur L. Howe, signal corps; First Lieutenant Clarence B. Martin, Third Infantry; First Lieutenant Percy E. Barbour, corps of engineers; First Lieutenant Wheeler C. Case, ad Third brigade; Corporal Conrad Crawford, Seventh Infantry; Private A. L. Jenks, squadron A; Private Howard I. Young, Seventh Infantry; Corporal L. B. Starkweather, Twenty-third Infantry; Lieutenant C. R. Balnes, Twelfth Infantry; Private Donald Emory, Third ambulance company; First Lieutenant Ernest C. Dreher, Seventy-first Infantry; Corporal Fred B. Barton, First cavalry; Sergeant Moses Kling, Jr., Seventh Infantry; Corporal George B. Barnhill, First cavalry.

Asleep at the Switch.

The old saw "asleep at the switch" is being rejuvenated in Camp Cotton, Michigan troops. Within a month eight men, both privates and noncommissioned officers, have been found sleeping at their posts. In the first cases it was believed the youthful offenders were not fully impressed with the importance of their duties, and for this reason light sentences were imposed.

A sergeant and corporal in Company K of the Thirty-first were found asleep while on duty. In all likelihood the men will be severely punished, as it is the general opinion in camp that sufficient leniency has been shown. Only a week ago a guard on the railroad removed his side arms and lay down to rest. He will probably be given a stiff punishment.

It developed at the trial of Private Paul of Company E, recently charged with sleeping on post, that he was on duty nearly four hours instead of two and that the corporal of the guard was asleep. After Major John Koehli had brought out these facts Paul was discharged. Private McConen, charged with the same offense, was given five days' extra duty.

Poets in Hospital Camp.

There are several "poets" in the field hospital camp. Only a few of them are brave enough to come forward and publicly acknowledge that they have been "dabbling in verse." Among them are four of the members of the Seven Angels' quartet. They are Sol O'Brien, C. B. Duncan, R. J. Dugan and Joe Perron of the District of Columbia. Their poem is sung to the tune of "Are You From Dixie?" and the words are:

Are you from D. C.?
Are you from D. C.?
The best little town on the face of the earth.
Are you from D. C.?
I say, old D. C.
The place where I claim my birth.
Are you from National rifles, Marble club or Glen Echo?
Or any place where all the good guys go?
Are you from D. C.?
Then shake hands with me,
For I'm from the D. C. too.

Battery B, O. M. D. C., always has had a weakness for poetry. When it was encamped at Fort Myer some unknown friend of the company kept it well supplied with original verse and parodies on popular songs. This person, apparently a woman by the handwriting, always signed her "poems" with the pen name "Me."

Her two latest "efforts" were recited at the battery camp recently, being addressed to a certain corporal who is engaged and has asked that his identity be kept a secret. He says he is afraid a certain young person would object if she knew he was reciting verse from another young woman, no matter if she does hide behind a pen name.

Thermometer Was "Doctored."

It's a shame the way the men of the field hospital play jokes on "Top" Sergeant Hart, who doesn't seem to mind them in the least. In fact, he seems to get fat off them.

The other afternoon Sergeant Hart went horseback riding. It was an unusually hot afternoon, and Hart had a hard time of it. When he returned to camp he complained of a headache and stretched out on his cot to take a nap. When he awoke he announced to some of his camp mates that he believed he had a fever. Sergeant Barnes was asked to bring him a clinical thermometer.

Barnes did so, but before handing it to the "Top" he "soaked" it well in hot water. This drove the mercury up to well over the hundred mark. Hart failed to examine the thermometer when he put it in his mouth, and when he withdrew it a few minutes later he insisted that he was a real sick man and immediately set about to doctor himself. The joke was so good that somebody began to laugh, and all the fun was spoiled.

Soldiers Were Left Behind.

Brooklyn friends of the guardsmen of the Twenty-third regiment are enjoying the story of a peculiar accident that occurred at Pharr, Tex., which had the effect of making involuntary deserters of a portion of the regiment. The story is told in a bulletin published by Company A's veteran association in "Notes From the Front."

This is the story as told in the bulletin by one of the members of the regiment.

"We reached here, Pharr, Tuesday at 8:30 a. m. and saw the Seventy-fourth detaching. Our train was held up by them just east of the station. General Wilson (Fourth brigade, New York) came to the train and ordered us to detain. We were about half off when the train started. The other men stayed aboard as we supposed they would pull up into the station. Instead of that the train streamed over the horizon, leaving a handful of us, the K. O. (Colonel Norton) and the adjutant gapping. Quick telegraphing stopped them by flag at the next station, five miles west, where the conductor informed the K. O. over the wire that his orders were to deliver the regiment in Mission, and he proposed to do so as far as he was able, not being responsible for us deserters. After a brief, but forcible, exchange of opinion he wired the dispatcher for a schedule to get back on this single track and congested road. So after an hour or so we were cheered to see smoke in the west, and finally our train backed in and we were reunited."

A Soldier's Funeral.

H. O. Boldtmann, a private in L company, Seventh regiment, New York, died at the new hospital. He started on the Seventh's hike, but was sent back at the end of the first stage. The exact nature of his illness has not yet been established. As preparations were being made for funeral services over Private Boldtmann, the body of Sergeant Arthur Lockwood, L company, Twelfth regiment, was being escorted to the train that will bear it home. The regimental band played a dirge at the head of the column, and behind it marched Captain John J. Deau and Chaplain James N. Connolly.

Between the platoons of the company eight men bore the flag draped coffin. Taps were blown as the coffin was lifted into the baggage car. Lockwood, who was a crack half miler under the New York A. C. and Paulist A. C. colors, was the third man of the Twelfth to die here. Boldtmann was the second of the Seventh.

An artist of the pen with the Twenty-third New York regiment writes concerning the townspopple:

"The town is tiny and truly western in effect and full of people that I have hitherto suspected of being movie actors. I am now beginning to think they are real. They are as charming as they are picturesque, and I hope we shall soon be able to overcome the prejudice caused by their own militia who were apparently but little better than Villa's bandits."

The men of the regiment are gradually being made more comfortable, wood floors now insuring dry sleeping and dry clothes in case of sudden cloudbursts. The money subscribed by friends and by the veterans has been put to good use, and on the whole the Twenty-third is about as comfortable as can be.

Days Pass Quickly.

"Every day in the army is like Sunday on the farm." With this expectation some of the soldierly element of the Washington regiment at Calverton, Cal., joined, dreaming of the time when there would be three squares per day and the rest of the hours devoted to sleep and other pleasant recreations.

After following the troops through the first six weeks' training on the border a correspondent concluded his investigation with the opinion that such is far from the case.

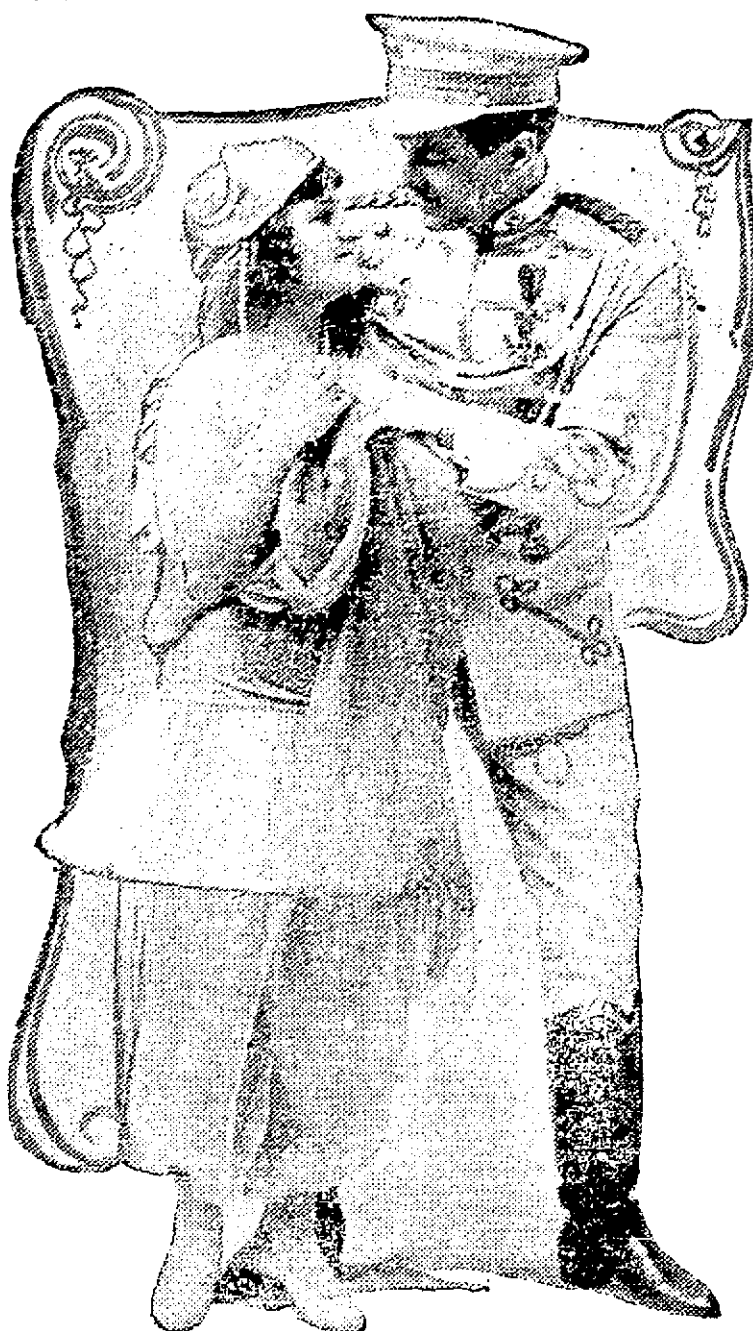

The guardsman has a busy life, and his duties from day to day are numerous. He must arise at 4:15 a. m. and at 8:30 or 9 taps sounds.

The days pass fast, and, although they dream of the time when they shall return home, yet the average guardsman is contented with his lot and some even long to leave. The first few weeks were hard as the process of acclimation was taking place, but that period is over, and in many respects it is an admirable vacation for many of the fellows.

Care of Trees in Streets.

Depending upon the locality and the desired effect, trees in the business districts are pruned to a greater or lesser extent, often being kept down to ten or fifteen feet in diameter, as is also done on some streets and boulevards and in formal parks, while on broad streets and squares they may often be allowed to grow to any size.

In selecting trees for use in streets and in other parts of the city, attention must be paid to the effect to be secured, as some kinds of trees are effective in certain environments, not in others. The Lombardy poplar, for example, is quite out of place on some streets, but highly effective when placed in rows around quays or on piers or used as a means of setting off promenades or isolated features, being often employed with remarkable results in island parks and on free ap-

Ivan and Katinka in Arthur Hammerstein's big musical success, "Katinka," at the Oneonta Theatre, Thursday evening.

The Case Stated

I am a neutral nation.
And I am in a fix.
As, naturally, I'm little,
And I can't take the tricks.
For in the game that's playing
I'm sure to get the bump.
Since both sides at the fighting
Are holding all the trump.

I try to be quite neutral
And quite impartial too.
I'm very, very careful
In everything I do.
But I'm too near for comfort,
And they don't mind a bit
In shooting off their cannon.
If I'm the one that's hit.

My rights they are knowing,
And then pretend they're slips.
They drop their air bombs on me.
They seek my harmless ships.
They have me join the fighting,
And if they see I've ducked
They won't leave me in quiet,
But threaten I'll be pinched.

When the Feet Burn

When you feel that you cannot take another step because of the awful burning, painful sensation in your feet, get a bottle of good old reliable Minard's liniment. In a few minutes you will know why everybody recommends Minard's liniment for poor, aching, sore feet. It reduces the inflammation that causes the itching, burning and swelling. It helps the blood to circulate and soothes and cools—and does not stain, burn or blister. It gives relief quickly because of its healing, antiseptic properties and frees you from foot misery.

WINTER DUTY FOR GUARD ON BORDER

Orders For $1,200,000 In Overcoats and Heavy Clothing Indicate Long Stay For Militia.

The militiamen now on the border are doomed to stay all winter.

This was the interpretation placed by army officers on recommendation made to the war department that $1,200,000 be appropriated to equip the troops for the winter. The amount will be expended for overcoats, heavy clothing, inclosed mess halls and hot water baths.

The recommendation was made to the war department through General Funston's headquarters at San Antonio, Tex.

A Nail "Detective."

Take an Eddell pencil and make light lines across the edge of the sealed flap on the back of the envelope, says Popular Science Monthly. Do not wet the pencil when making the lines, and it is not necessary to bear heavily on the pencil. For if the envelope should be opened the lines made with the Eddell pencil will turn to a bright purple and remain plainly visible.

"Are you sure he forgot to leave it?"

And then Rengo Belt corsets will maintain their shape and continue to form the figure under severe wearing conditions throughout a long season's wear.

Good Old Home-Made Family Cough Remedy

Much Better than the Ready-Made Kind—Easily and Cheaply Prepared.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you would hardly have in them all the curative power that lies in this simple "home-made" cough syrup which takes only a few minutes to prepare. Get from any druggist 2½ ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour it into a pint bottle and fill the bottle with plain granulated sugar syrup. The total cost is about 54 cents and gives you a full pint of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made for $2.50. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and sugar syrup preparation acts right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membranes that line the throat, chest and bronchial tubes, so gently and easily that it is really astonishing. A day's use will usually overcome the ordinary cough and for bronchitis, croup, whooping cough and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, combined with guarana and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

To avoid disappointment, be sure to ask your druggist for "2½ ounces of Pinex" with full directions, and don't accept anything else. A guarantee of "absolute satisfaction or money promptly refunded, goes with this preparation. The Pinex Co., Ft. Wayne, Ind.

Light Soups.

GREEN CORN SOUP.—Three ears corn, two cups milk, two cups rice stock, a teaspoonful salt, one-eighth teaspoonful white pepper, a teaspoonful cornstarch, two teaspoonful butter, one-quarter teaspoonful paprika.

Utensils: Knife or scorer, measuring cup, teaspoon, saucepan, double boiler. Directions: Score and grate the corn (there should be one and one-half cups after it is grated); put in saucepan with a cupful of rice stock. Bring to a boil quickly. Have the milk in top of double boiler. When it boils add salt, pepper, butter and cornstarch. Wet with a little cold water and boil three minutes. Serve in soup plates and dust with paprika. This amount makes five large plates and is very hearty.

Potato Soup.—Three potatoes, a pint of milk or milk and cream, an onion, two tablespoonfuls of butter, a tablespoonful of flour, salt, white pepper, parsley and celery seed. Boil the potatoes until soft. Brown the cut up onion in the butter and have the milk hot. Mash the potatoes while hot and beat thoroughly into them the flour, the butter and onion, the salt and pepper. It should be beaten until creamy. Stir the whole gradually into the hot milk and let it cook to thicken properly. Then serve at once. Sprinkle with chopped parsley and a little celery seed before serving.

A French Recipe For Leek Soup.—To ten large potatoes use two bunches of leek. Peel, wash and cut into slices the potatoes and place in a saucepan. Clean and cut the leek into small pieces and add to the potatoes with two quarts of water, salt and pepper. Boil until tender, add a glass of milk; let boil. After removing from fire add 1 tablespoonful of butter.

Her Early Resolutions.

This story was told by an Englishman who lived a century ago. He was dining out in London and sat by a lady whom he did not know. Their conversation turned upon early resolutions and how very seldom they were kept, and the lady said: "Well, when I was a girl I made three resolutions—first, I determined that I would never marry a soldier; second, that I would never marry an Irishman, and, third, that I would not be long engaged. And all those three resolutions I broke. Whom do you think I did marry? The Duke of Wellington! He was a soldier and an Irishman, and I was engaged to him for twelve years." This was Lady Katherine Pakenham. It was an unhappy marriage, and the couple mostly lived apart.

The Boy Bushwhacker

By DONALD CHAMBERLIN

Two American boys, whose fathers were engaged in business in northern Mexico, were out hunting. What they were after was not rabbits or squirrels or birds. They wanted bigger game. They were bushwhackers. From behind a tree, a stone or a bullet they would pick off the bandits. Their homes had been plundered and the brother of one of them, George Dorrance, had been killed by the men they were now taking revenge upon.

George had lain in wait for a stranger from the hand of one Alvarez and shot him from behind a tree. Immediately after the deed was done a Mexican woman, who knew George, saw him emerge from the timber. Passing along the road she saw the dead bandit lying on his back, his glassy eye looking up at the peaceful blue sky. Alvarez had heard the shot behind him and, desiring to know what it was about, turned and rode back. Seeing the dead man, he asked the woman who shot him. She told him that George Dorrance had done the deed, and pointed in the direction George had gone.

Warren Edwards, George's companion, was waiting for him not far distant, and they moved on together toward George's home. Presently looking back, they saw Alvarez coming. He was on an elevation in the ground, and they were on another. The Dorrance house was a short distance below, and, boylike, instead of going into hiding anywhere else they made for it. They were met at the door by Mrs. Dorrance.

"Mother," said George, "I shot a bandit, and I think one of 'em is coming for me."

A moment's thought decided her, and she led them to a garret, uncalled for, and the joists above uncovered. On these joists were piled some old beds.

"Get up there," said the woman.

The boys climbed up and hid themselves in the bedding. Unfortunately, Alvarez had seen them go into the house and knew they were there. He was full of wrath at the loss of his man and determined to wreck it on the slayer. Riding up to the house, he threw himself from his horse and stalked in with knitted brow and a merciless look in his eye.

"I want a boy named George Dorrance," he said to George's mother. "There's no such boy here."

"He is here; I saw him come in with another boy a few minutes ago. You might as well produce him and save me the trouble of looking for him."

"What do you want to do with him?"

"Never mind that; tell him to come out of hiding."

The woman stuck to it that George was not in the house.

"Are you his mother?" asked the bandit.

"Yes."

As soon as he received this reply Alvarez gave up trying to persuade or frighten the woman into giving up her son and went through the house searching for him. As soon as he saw the beds stored on the joists above the garret, recognizing it as a most likely hiding place, he examined it and yanked the boys out. Hurling them down stairs, he took them out in front of the house.

"Which of you boys is George Dorrance?" he asked.

Neither replied. Alvarez asked the question of Mrs. Dorrance, who had followed them out of the house. She would not reply.

"I want to know," said Alvarez angrily, "which one of you boys is George Dorrance, who just now shot one of my men. If I can't find out I'll kill you both, for I'm determined to kill the one who did the bushwhacking."

George declined to give the required information, and Warren was determined that he would not betray his friend. Whether Alvarez admired an act of heroism on the part of one of the boys unknown to him or from some other cause he did not carry out this threat to kill both. He resorted to a device to learn the truth. He had seen the boys' guns standing in a corner in the house. He stepped inside, brought them out and, keeping the boys cowered with a revolver, handed each boy a gun. Then he told them, when he gave the word, to fire on Mrs. Dorrance, and the boy who failed to inflict a death wound should die. In this way he expected to discover which was her son, for no boy would thus kill his mother.

But the test was interrupted. He had scarcely handed the guns to the boys when there came the metallic notes of a bugle. Alvarez, without even looking to see whence it came, leaped on to his horse and, digging the heels of his spurs into the beast's flanks, was off like a flash.

But the boys had the guns. Two reports rang out together, and Alvarez's body was left in the dust while his horse ran on.

A few minutes later a company of the—th United States cavalry rode past the house. The captain was notified that Alvarez's band was in the neighborhood and, taking the boys for guides, hurried away to attack them.

Some of the bandits were coming back to look for their commander, but, seeing the troopers, turned and fled. They were pursued and gave the alarm to their comrades, but it was too late. The robbers were obliged to turn and fight; but, not having their commander to lead them, they were routed and most of them either killed or captured.

Not His Fault.

JABOT FADS.

Their Softening Effect Around the Face Is a Beautifier.

"Nothing adds so much to a woman's youth and good looks," says a fashion expert, "as a soft fall of lace below the chin. Women of all ages have recognized it, and men in different periods have not scorned the lace jabot to add to their own charms."

This may be a prejudiced view, but it is true, and it is also certain that there are to be many soft things in nets and laces to be worn, and buyers are ordering them in large quantities for their different houses.

Furs and laces go together, and, with the deep fur collars that are to be worn on all kinds of coats fastened high in the neck when they are closed, but turned well back from the throat when they are open, the lace is almost indispensable. The materials used are many and varied. There are fine mulls and lawns, silk nets and hats of other kinds, fine nets and those with a coarser mesh, nets with small over patterns and nets with lace borders made in single and double frills and falling straight or with drop corners to give the effect of points to agree with the many pointed effects that are seen on gowns and coats and wraps. Georgette crape is also much used.

Silk and satins will be combined with the softer materials. The smart black stock will appear with its fall of cream lace and possibly a little
